

The image displays a piece of Indian textile, likely a sari or blouse material. It features a vibrant green background with a dense, repeating floral motif in a lighter shade of green. A wide, decorative border runs diagonally across the fabric, featuring a cream-colored base with colorful parrots in shades of pink, blue, and green, interspersed with floral elements. This border is flanked by thin lines of small, repeating floral patterns in blue and gold. A strip of plain, tan-colored fabric is draped over the main patterned fabric, creating a layered effect. The overall composition is rich in color and traditional Indian design elements.

Blouse

