In the 21st century the style trends of the fashion industry dominate the world more than they ever did, and control not only the way people saree but also trends in home ware design, makeup fashion and people's overall attitudes. In the 60s flower power did not only mean flares and tunics, it summed up the whole attitude of a generation, and this is even more prominent today.

The power of a great outfit is impossible to overstate. At its best, fashion has the ability to transform your mood, identity, and, of course, your look. It can be fun, refreshing, and purposeful. But as with anything one does on a daily basis, it's easy to fall into a fashion rut, feeling stale and drab no matter what you put on. If you have a closet full of clothes but not a single thing to wear, perhaps you just need some inspiration. We looked to some of the most iconic designers and couturiers for their thoughts on dressing in style.

A woman is standing on a balcony of a traditional building with a red roof and gold accents. She is wearing a gold and brown saree with a subtle pattern and a matching blouse. She is also wearing sunglasses, a necklace, and bangles. The balcony has a white balustrade. In the background, there is a black lamp post with white globes.
