

A traditional Indian saree is laid flat on a dark wooden floor. The saree has a light-colored body with a wide, colorful floral border in shades of red, yellow, and green. The border is decorated with various flowers and leaves. The central part of the saree has a pattern of small, scattered dots in red, yellow, and green. At the top, there is a rectangular piece of fabric with a red and white polka-dot pattern, labeled 'Blouse'. At the bottom, the saree is finished with a wide border of yellow tassels, labeled 'Pallu'.
